

New Partner Announcement

We are delighted to share the elevation of Steve Jennings, Nick Muhvic, and Jesse Sweigart to partners at LDA Architects, alongside founder Dominick Durante. They have been instrumental in the management, innovation, and steady growth of the firm over the years. Their long-term commitment will maintain LDA's values and firm culture of collaboration and exceptional service to our clients. Each partner brings their own expertise, knowledge, and perspective that will continue to strengthen our solid reputation for superior service and quality design. Our holistic team approach allows for continuous collaboration between our architecture, interior design, historic preservation, and landscape design professionals.

Steve Jennings

With significant experience in design and construction, Steve has contributed his intrinsic knowledge to many projects that have made a physical, social, and economic impact on our communities. Innate creativity and an enthusiasm for historic buildings provide a comprehensive mindset to architecture. His leadership, thoughtful approach to design, and strategic guidance have been essential to the success and growth of LDA.

Nick Muhvic

Since joining LDA, Nick has focused on affordable housing working with various finance agencies and developers throughout the country for both new construction and rehabilitation projects to create quality housing for everybody. His positive attitude and collaborative approach have created lasting relationships with team members, developers, and contractors.

Jesse Sweigart

Always at the forefront of change, Jesse has been the firm's leader in advancement and integration of new technologies upon commencing his career at LDA. He maintains the firm's high standards of quality and innovation, while managing a wide range of projects including commercial and adaptive reuse projects. His expertise in both architecture and urban planning brings a holistic perspective to design.
